Mrs. Wyndham R. Meredith and her daughters, Misses Alice and Marion Meredith, have returned to their home on Park Avenue, after spending the summer months at the Old Sweet. Mrs. Meredith and her daughters will leave town later in the month for Philadelphia, where she will attend school for this session.

For Miss Faulconer.
One of the most interesting house parties of the summer season was given last week in honor of Miss Hazel Faulconer, of Richmond, who is a guest of Miss Holman at the Black's Cottage, Willoughby Beach. Among those invited to meet Miss Faulconer were Misses Anne Holman, Mabel Holby, Mary Etheridge, Edith Moore, Della Stovall, of this city; Margaret Hygien, of Richmond; Miss Elsie Weaver, of Portsmouth; Messrs. John Dwyer, Leonard Rock, Ned Webb, Thomas Parker, of Portsmouth; Dr. J. C. Dunford, of Portsmouth; Roy Martin, of Richmond; Thomas Reed and Will Achiba.

Mrs. Holly and Mrs. Bales, chaperones of the party, and a number of pleasing affairs were given in honor of the guests.

At Country Home.
Miss Jean Bayly Knox, who has been traveling in the South for some time past, has returned to her home at Rio Vista, Henrico County. Miss Knox has been quite sick with fever during the summer, but is now much improved. Mrs. Knox and Miss Knox will return to Richmond some time in the autumn.

Misses Mary and Nell Walker, of 222 Park Avenue, reached New York Saturday afternoon on board the steamship Campanian, after a three months' stay abroad. The Misses Walker went direct from New York to their country home near Waynesboro and will not be in Richmond until after the middle of October. They were chaperoned during their trip to Europe by Mrs. John H. Enker, of Baltimore.

Homecoming.
H. H. Moore, of New York, and Miss Geraldine E. Hutchinson, of Petersburg, were married in Richmond on Monday at the residence of the Rev. F. T. McFadden, D. D., who performed the ceremony. They were accompanied by the bride's mother and several friends, who witnessed the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Moore left at once for an extended wedding journey North, returning to Richmond.

Mrs. Graham Bruce Holman and daughter, who have been in the Adirondacks with Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchinson all summer, expect to start for home this week in Mr. Hutchinson's automobile. The party with Mr. Holman motored from Richmond to Saratoga Lake, N. Y., the first week in July, stopping at many places of interest en route, since which time they have toured the lake region of the Adirondacks.

The route home takes them North around Lake Champlain and down to their country home near Waynesboro.

CONFESSES TO THEFT.
Negro Caught in Fredericksburg Is Taken to Bowling Green.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bowling Green, Va., September 3.—Sheriff T. B. Gill brought Jas. Thomas, colored, here from Fredericksburg, where he was arrested on a charge of breaking into the store house of T. B. Campbell at Milford, and stealing a watch and a small amount of money. Thomas acknowledged having done so, but says there was some one else with him. He says he is from Westmoreland County and was going back. He told the sheriff that he served a term in the Virginia Penitentiary from 1908 to 1910, and that time has served a term in the penitentiary of Pennsylvania. Two suit cases, filled with goods were recovered.

ARGUMENT IN WATER CASE.
Issue Raised in Raleigh Certain to Go to Supreme Court.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., September 3.—For two hours this afternoon there was argument in the Raleigh Police Court in the case of the city of Raleigh against the Wake Water Company in the criminal indictment against the company for furnishing the city with undiluted water. There was evidence to prove the offense and then counsel for the company set up the defense that there was no criminal indictment at law, but that the proper and only remedy is a proceeding for forfeiture of franchise. Counsel for the city argued that both remedies are open to the prosecution. The uncompleted argument in the case goes over to Thursday afternoon. The issue is one that has never been decided in this state and the case is sure to go to the Supreme Court.

NEW CITY COUNCIL
ELECTS OFFICERS

R. D. Brumback Named as President to Succeed Howard W. Smith.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Alexandria, Va., September 3.—The new City Council, composed of half of the members of the Common Council elected last June, was organized at noon today. The election of R. D. Brumback as president and Thomas Chancy as vice-president, Daniel R. Stansbury as re-elected clerk, and William Craven as messenger. President Howard W. Smith was placed in nomination when the Council was called to order, and R. D. Brumback was nominated to succeed him. On the first three ballots the vote stood Brumback, 6, and Smith, 5. Messrs. Smith and Chancy not voting. Those voting for Smith were Councilmen Spinks, Burke, Birrell, Monroe, Marshall and Bryan. Those voting for Brumback were Councilmen Lambert, Brumback, Graham, Williams, Brockett, Harrison and Swan.

It looked for a while as if there would be no election, as nine votes, or a majority, was necessary, and Mr. Brumback on the first three ballots only received eight, lacking one vote of the number required for a choice.

Several others were then placed in nomination for the position, and all declined for a time. President Smith announced that he would withdraw in favor of any of those mentioned, whereupon Councilman H. R. Burke stood for the nomination, and the vote was Brumback, 8, Burke, 6, Mr. Burke not voting.

The oath of office was next administered to Mr. Brumback by Carroll Pierce, notary public, after which he presided over Council.

Retiring Mayor F. J. Paff, together with the new Mayor, Thomas A. Fisher, were escorted by Councilmen Swan and Birrell before a joint meeting of the two bodies, and both made brief addresses. Retiring Mayor Paff thanked the members for the courtesy shown him during his tenure of office. Mayor Fisher also thanked the members for the honor conferred upon him, and said that he would make every recommendation to himself with the duties of the office.

Two handsome floral emblems were then presented to Mayor Fisher, a speech of presentation being made by Councilman J. Fred Birrell. One was the gift of the Collingwood Club and the other the gift of Thomas M. Dunbar.

Afterward Council accepted the resignation of Thomas A. Fisher as Police Commissioner from the Second Ward. Resolutions of Councilman Williams thanking retiring Councilman Leavelle for his efficient work as chairman of the Street Committee were adopted, and Council then adjourned until Tuesday night next, when committees will be announced by the president, Mr. Brumback.

In the Board of Aldermen the election of officers resulted as follows: F. E. Murray, president; Henry K. Field, vice-president; Luther H. Thompson, clerk; and J. B. Laphen, messenger.

R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, has elected the following delegates to the annual meeting of the Grand Camp of Virginia, which will be held in Pulaski City September 25 to 27: J. R. Zimmerman, Booker C. Hall, R. M. Latham and D. D. Spicer. The following were elected alternates: J. C. Quinn, A. Marshall, O. H. Marshall, Joel O. Allen and F. J. Davidson.

During the month of August there were twenty-seven deaths in the city, and the total number of births was twenty-eight.

WOMAN FAINTS IN COURT.
After Being Revived, She Is Acquitted by Jury.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Gloucester Junction, Va., September 3.—At Gloucester Court today during the trial of the case of Commonwealth against Maude Jackson, and while Major Stubbs, counsel for the defense, was in the midst of his speech, the defendant fainted. A two-month-old baby was in her arms. After about ten minutes' confinement the case proceeded. Commonwealth's Attorney C. S. Smith, assisted by Col. J. R. Saunders, of Middlesex, conducted the prosecution. Major J. N. Stubbs was counsel for defense. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Sheriff George Field went to Mid-dlesex this evening after Ferdinand Allen, who has been lodged in the Middlesex jail for safe-keeping. It is probable that his case will commence to-morrow.

MAN WANTED FOR MURDER.
SEEN IN BRISTOL SALOON.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., September 3.—Henry Perry, a defendant in the Cranberry-Pinola Railway case, N. C., wanted for the murder of a boy at Cranberry, N. C., last Saturday, was before the officers this morning, but left before the officers had made a definite of his being here. He purchased a bottle of wine in a local saloon, and is believed to have left for the West immediately thereafter.

Horse Escapes From Car.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Cape Charles, Va., September 3.—A horse, shipped by Wood, Godfrey from Princess Anne to Cape Charles, last night escaped from a freight car in which it was loaded and mysteriously disappeared and no trace can be found of the animal. The horse was placed in the charge of a small boy as an attendant. When the train arrived at Cape Charles, the owner went to the animal. The boy was found fast asleep in the car and the horse missing. How the horse escaped or at what point is unknown.

HON. LIONEL LAMBART NOW ON LONG ISLAND

Visitor Is Next Heir to Titles of His Childless Elder Brother.

BY LA MARQUE DE FONTENOY.
THE Hon. Lionel Lambart, who has just arrived in this country and is now staying with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock at their country place on Long Island, is the next heir to his childless elder brother's Earldom of Devon, to his Viscountcy of Kilcourse, and to his Barony of Lambart. He formerly served in the Royal Navy, from which he retired with the rank of lieutenant, on his marriage to Adelaide Randolph, step-daughter of the late William C. Whitney, of New York, and a large beneficiary under his will. She was the child of Mrs. Randolph, later on the second Mrs. Whitney, who succumbed to an injury to the spine sustained in the hunting field.

Since leaving the navy, Lionel Lambart has devoted himself to polo, at which game he is counted a crack player, and he makes his home with Mrs. Lambart at Marsh Court, his country place in Dorsetshire. His uncle, the Hon. Octavius Lambart, is married to the daughter of the late Hiram Howard of Buffalo, and lives with her at Ottawa.

An aunt, Lady Sarah Sladen, is a very active member of the Salvation Army, one of her sons having actually enjoyed the distinction of serving on the staff of General Booth, while a student at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and she is now endeavoring to re-establish the balance of the Catholic Church, and entered upon her novitiate in the Belgian convent of one of the strictest orders, where, however, her health gave way, and she now lives at a pretty place which she owns at Rustington, in Sussex.

The Lambarts have been settled in Ireland since the reign of Queen Elizabeth, when one of them, Sir Oliver Lambart, who came over with the Earl of Essex, was appointed governor of Connaught and created Baron Lambart, his son being advanced to the Viscountcy of Kilcourse, and to the Earldom of Cavan.

The present earl, a soldier like the first peer, who lies entombed in Westminster Abbey, was for several years in command of the Grenadier Guards, and spent some time in Ottawa as Lord Stanley, he was Governor-General of Canada. He has no property in Ireland, but a very pretty country place in Hertfordshire, known as Wheatthampstead House. Taking no part in political life, he differs in this respect from the late earl, who, from the fact that his peerage was Irish, was able to sit in the House of Commons as a representative of Somerset, and acted for Gladstone's Home Rule Bill of 1886.

Secretary of State Knox, who, supported by an admiral and a brigadier-general, is to represent the United States at the obsequies of the late

Mikado, will find himself in notable company. For Prince Henry of Prussia has been delegated by the Kaiser to attend the funeral. King George will be represented by Prince Arthur of Connaught, attended by Field Marshal Lord Methuen and an admiral; while Emperor Francis Joseph has dispatched Archduke Charles Albert, the twenty-five year old son of his nephew Archduke Charles Stephen, to Tokyo, France, Russia and Italy are likewise sending special missions.

This is not only the first occasion of foreign princes of the blood traveling all the way from Europe to attend the funeral of an Oriental sovereign, but likewise the first time that a new Emperor of Japan has been proclaimed immediately on his predecessor's death, former Japanese customs providing that no announcement of the death should take place until on the very day of the funeral. That one was observed in the case of all members of the reigning house. Thus, when some ten or fifteen years ago the Imperial Prince and Field Marshal Kitashira succumbed to a fever while in command of the army of occupation in Manchuria, no proclamation of official intimation of his death was made until after his funeral. The prince was buried in the Imperial Palace, and his death was announced to the world by the Emperor's order.

The prince was a living man. The general announcing his departure to the troops and naval and military forces bore his seal and signature, and what purported to be such. The man-of-war that carried his body to Yokohama bore no emblems of mourning, masts were served in the cabin where he was supposed to be, and the military and naval reports were made to his deaf ears every morning, even as if he were alive. On arriving at Yokohama the ship was received with the usual honors, and arrayed in his field marshal's uniform, he was "sent" aboard in a saloon carriage on the railroad, his staff in places around him. Arriving at Tokyo, the same gorgeously uniformed figure was conveyed to a coupe, which was driven to the prince's palace, and it was only on the following day, that is to say, within a few hours of his obsequies, that the public and official announcement of his death was made.

The strange ride through the streets of Tokyo of this Japanese prince, who visited this country in 1894, recalls to mind an experience of the late Nubar Pasha, the celebrated Egyptian statesman and Premier, who died from his own lips at Cairo. When Abbas died, strangled in his harem in his gloomy and sombre desert palace of Benha, twenty miles from Cairo, Nubar was governor of the capital. The news of the despot's death was secreted, and he was kept in the dark. He hastened to Benha as fast as his fleetest horse could carry him, and on arriving there summoned the head-eunuch, giving strict orders that not a soul should be permitted to stir from the palace.

Ordering the state carriage to be brought to the private entrance, he, assisted by the head-eunuch, placed the body of the dead ruler in a sitting position in it, and taking his own seat opposite as usual, drove the twenty miles to Cairo, surrounded by guards and the usual pomp, in his ghastly companionship, being compelled from the utmost care to keep the corpse from being tumbled forward upon himself by the jolting of the carriage.

Although it was daylight when he reached the capital, and the streets were crowded, he reached the city without exciting suspicion, and at once causing the guns of that stronghold to be trained on the city, he proclaimed Prince Said as Khedive, thus crushing the conspiracy which had been organized for the deposition of the reigning Prince Hamid to the throne.

After all, one must remember that the old court etiquette in Europe used to provide that, as until recently in Japan, royalty should be regarded as sacred, and laid in the tomb. Thus, in France, under the old regime, during the entire forty days that the embalmed body of the sovereign lay in state, in the Cathedral of St. Denis, the court ceremonies were carried on within the Abbey as though he were alive. The royal table would be set every night in the refectory, and the Grand Master of the Ceremonies, when dinner was brought up, would proceed in full uniform to the channel of the church where his royal master lay, and with a low obeisance would exclaim: "Your Majesty's dinner." Then the chamberlain on duty by the altar would respond with dignity: "His Majesty has been graciously pleased to dine already, and desires to remain undisturbed." Whereupon the Master of Ceremonies could retire backward, with the customary bow, low obeisance to the King, and order the meal removed and given to the poor, assembled to receive it at the Abbey gates.

Propos of the Salvation Army, it is interesting just now to recall that whereas Queen Victoria addressed the members of that organization as "The Rev. William Booth and his wife," after becoming King, addressed
